FRESHMEN CONTROL TODAY'S ACTIVITIES

Frosh Get Shot For '34 Banyan

No Strings On Free Offer

SOPHS NEXT IN LINE

Tall freshmen, short freshmen, fresh freshmen, and not-so-fresh freshmen, all with the expression characteristic of sheep at the Chicago stock yards, have been invading Larson studio at 77 North University Avenue in great hordes during the week. This rush of freshmen anxious to get photographed for the Banyan free of charge will continue until Saturday night.

Some of the early "birds" were pleasantly surprised to learn that they did not have to order a yearbook to get photographed. And those who follow them expecting some strings to be attached to the offer also will be surprised, declare the editors. They are emphatic in their stand that there are no obligations incident to getting photographed.

This plan without precedent was inspired by the sincere desire of Editor Ralph Jensen to get every student's picture in the yearbook. "We hope each student will support us in this project by getting his picture taken, and getting it taken in the scheduled time," says Otto Done, acting editor.

Sophomores are next in line on the photo schedule. They will try to keep from breaking the camera during the week opening Monday.

Armed with pledge cards, 27 Banyan salesmen under direction of sales manager, Earl Cottam, are now working on their task of contacting every student in the school. Under the pledge system as instituted last year, each yearbook buyer will be given the opportunity of making a full down payment or pledging installment payments to be made over a convenient period of time. Those making payments before March 1 will have their names embossed in gold on their books free of charge.

The Banyan snapshot contest for the winter closes Monday at 5 p. m., reminds Otto Done. Student camera owners should turn in their prize camera snaps to the Banyan office immediately. All students except Banyan staff photographers are eligible.

Students Dance, Rally To 'Beat the Aggies'

The spirit of enthusiasm prevailed at a most colorful Pep Rally last night as flaming torches and lustily cheering voices gave evidence that the Cougars are out for victory.

Starting the evening's activities was a dance in the Ladies' gym at 7:30 after which all joined in the torchlight parade which terminated at the Paramount Theatre. Here the Pep Rally was held, with Lyman Partridge as master of ceremonies, and for a half hour it was made evident that the Y Cougars are going to 'Beat the Aggies.'

The program was carried on as follows: Following a tap dance by some of Miss Jeppson's students, the team was introduced by cheerleader Jim McGuire. Met Wilson then presented the Aggie President. The Phi Delta Pi, women's athletic unit, presented a skit with a football theme forecasting the inevitable victory.

All girls' social units, led by the White Keys, joined in a snake dance for the culmination of the program.

Following the rally the regally feature, "Tilly and Gus" was shown.

The entire affair was the work of the newly appointed rally committee.

ANNOUNCEMENT

All teams and goats of the La Deja social unit meet this afternoon in 360-A at 5:30. Important, be there.

CLUB NOTICE

The Y Camera club meets Monday, November 20, 4:30 p. m. in room 260-E.

NOTICE

All articles found on the school campus must be taken to the registrar's office in the Maeser building. Anyone losing anything should report to the above office.

BANYAN NOTICE

All Banyan salesmen are asked to report in the Banyan office Monday at 4:30 p. m. for a short meeting.

Wednesday at 4:30 all Banyan staff heads and assistants are requested to meet in the Banyan office.

Hot Air Evident As Senior Court Opens

The above picture snapped as Judge Hayes called the Senior Court to order, (what order) almost any Tuesday noon. In the right foreground can be seen Judge "Baldy" Hayes. The only reason for not treating him as a wolf is that there is a bounty on wolves. He is seen talking to chief-of-police, Roy "Snake-in-the-Grass" Hammond. Note the expression, yes, that's an expression, on his beautiful countenance.

In the center background Jay "Thugger" Nelson can be seen strutting his stuff. As you can see, no one is paying any attention to him. Oh well! He enjoys himself.

Scattered all over the picture haphazardly are various other members of the famous (or infamous, have it your own way) group. See if you can pick out Rex Ingersoll, Fred Washburn, Dale Jones, Guy Callahan, Bill Hasler, Elbert Miller and others.

Services Held For Y Student

Funeral services for Earle Meham Poulson, sophomore, and son of Professor and Mrs. M. Wilford Poulson, was held in the Manuv ward chapel Friday afternoon.

Earle died suddenly Tuesday afternoon on the upper campus, following a heart attack.

Bishop Wilbur Sowards was in charge, and remarks were made by Professors B. F. Cummings, Guy C. Wilson, President F. S. Harris and Mrs. Elsie C. Carroll of the university; Andrew Hartley, representing the Third ward, of which the family are former members, and Dr. W. J. Snow representing the bishopric.

Rees Bench opened with prayer and the benediction was offered by Dr. Carl F. Eyring.

A double mixed quartet composed of B. Y. U. students sang "The Deepening Trials" and "How Firm a Foundation." Miss Margaret Summerhays was in charge and Professor Gerrit De Jong accompanied. Miss Summerhays rendered a vocal solo, "Guide Me to Thee," and a string trio, composed of Prof. LeRoy Robertson, Gustav Buggert and Prof. Elmer E. Nelson rendered a number. Professor B. F. Larson dedicated the grave at the Provo city cemetery.

Prof. Robert Sauer and members of his brass quartet, Farrell Madsen, Kenneth Duke, Morris Duke and Joseph Seethaler, played before and after the services at the chapel and at the cemetery.

PSYCHOLOGY FILM WILL SHOW HERE

"Mechanics of the Brain," a film produced in Russia by Dr. Sergei Pavlov, will be shown in College hall, at 8:15 p. m. Monday; under the auspices of the Y department of psychology. Prof. M. Wilford Poulson, assisted by the university bureau of visual instruction, arranged for the showing of the movie some weeks ago.

Dr. Pavlov is regarded as one of the outstanding experimental psychologists of the world. Both university students and townspeople are invited to attend the showing.

Functions of the different sections of the brain are clearly shown in the film, by means of animated drawings. The film is six reels in length, requiring about an hour and fifteen minutes for showing.

PHOTO SCHEDULE

To Nov. 18—Freshmen.
Nov. 20-25—Sophomores, men's fraternities and social units.
Nov. 27-Dec. 2—Juniors, women's social units and sororities.
Dec. 4-9—Seniors and graduate students.

CONTEST TO DECIDE JUNIOR PROM THEME

Christenson Selects His Committee

A contest open to all freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors alike, is to decide the theme to characterize the junior prom to be given in the spring. The prize for the winning theme will be one ticket to the prom.

Professor Eastmond and Miss Jeppson are cooperating in every possible way with the prom committee to make this year's prom the outstanding event of the season, according to Phil Christenson, chairman. A tentative committee has been selected consisting of: Dave Merrill, Don Alder, Dale Jones, Pearl Taylor, Mary Dahlquist, and Maurine Romney.

"We want the pet ideas of the student body, if possible," says Phil Christenson. The requirements are: (1) Select your theme; (2) Make a skeleton idea for theme; (3) Place outline in the box by the bulletin board in the Educational hall by Friday, November 22.

"Hamlet" Addresses Monday Assembly

Some Dane by the name of Hamlet, a native of Sevier county, Utah, read a paper in assembly Monday, November 13, on "The Wit and Humor of Jeremiah, Chapters 1, 2, and 3."

Hamlet, alias Professor Parley A. Christensen, head of the English department at Brigham Young university, states that the artist, commonly looked upon as some queer sort of beast, is in reality a super-sensitive human being. (Ed. note: This does not necessarily mean a freshman, and by no means is a sophomore included.) "The artist has the ability to crystallize the chaotic emotions of the average individual, and to make of them some symbol of life and its meaning," he continued.

"The works of art are the inspired conclusions about the meaning of human life," concluded Prof. Christensen. "Faust in Four Minutes" by Dean de Jong, was announced by Dr. Christensen as next Monday's talk.

Campus Poisonalities

JAY NELSON

Jay Nelson's exuberant spirit has predominated in warfare upon the frosh for the last time. There was a wistful light in his sun-flecked brown eyes, as he mused over the activities of the past eight weeks.

Secretly, I wondered if there were regrets, but suddenly he turned and in a burst of confidence poured out an enlightening confession.

"You see, it was like this," he whispered, "when I was freshman president there weren't any frosh rules, and there never was anything to make the year outstanding. I thought there ought to be, so when I was made chairman of the frosh hazing committee I decided to make it interesting for them."

He admitted that pushing little chickens in the ditch had nothing on getting some of those freshies wet all over.

Jay has been active throughout his school life. After making his appearance at Brigham City, from which the town has never fully recovered, he entered the grade school. At the Provo high his "wim, wigor, and vitality" won him the position of junior class president. He was freshman president his first year at the B. Y. U., and last year chairman of the sophomore loan fund ball.

His weakness is freshie girls who can cook rice pudding and cake.

Wrestling, Boxing Replace Annual Soph-Frosh Brawl; Dance Climaxes Activities

LOAN FUND BALL SET FOR NOV. 24

N. R. A., Blue Eagle Is Decoration Theme

On Friday, November 24, the sophomore class will present the annual Loan Fund Ball, the purpose of which is to increase the school fund for helping students work their way through school. In past years this dance has been one of the season's outstanding social events, and this year it gives promise of eclipsing even the record made before. The theme of the evening is to be the N. R. A., and the blue eagle will be featured in decorations.

Not only because of the importance of the event socially but also because of the fact that the funds derived are the means of enabling many students to attend college, everyone is asked to participate in making this event a success. Committees have been appointed to sell tickets, which are priced at fifty cents per person, and all students will be contacted between now and the date of the dance. It is the plan of the committee that every student, both boys and girls, buy his own ticket, for it is believed that every individual wishes to do his part in providing for the Loan Fund. Tom Eastmond and Woodrow Wilson are in charge of arrangements for the affair.

Physicists Study Meteor Display

The Brigham Young university physics department, under the direction of Dr. Wayne B. Hales, made scientific observations of the famous Leonid swarm of meteors Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights. Co-operating with Dr. Hales were Elmer Jacob, city engineer, and Hugo Price, county surveyor, who used their transits in measuring the direction and the angle of elevation of the individual meteors. The Young physicists worked in conjunction with Professor Junius Hayes and students of the University of Utah.

The two colleges participated in a nation-wide effort to seize the opportunity for investigation that these meteors have presented to the earth for a few days about every thirty-three years for at least the last two thousand years. The organization of scientists was directed by Professor Chas. Oliver of the Flower observatory, Pennsylvania. Prof. Oliver is president of the American Meteor Society.

Vigils were kept from twelve midnight to five a. m. on each of the three nights. Groups of students took two hour shifts in counting the meteors; other groups charted the Leonoids on sky maps. By obtaining the time visible, the angle of elevation, and the azimuth of the meteors from points here and in Salt Lake City the transients were able to compute the height in miles, the length of the swarm in miles, and velocity in miles per second.

In 1799 and again in 1833 the Leonid swarm produced spectacular displays which have become famous. In fact, many of those persons who viewed the display in 1833 believed the heavens to be falling. However, in 1866, in 1899, and again in the recent display, the display was not so spectacular as before. The theory has been advanced that this is perhaps due to another planet capturing many of the meteors, but there are so many variations to be taken into consideration that nothing definite has been proven.

APPRECIATION

The following is a copy of a letter of appreciation received by President Franklin S. Harris Monday:

Provo, Utah, Nov. 13, 1933

Pres. Franklin S. Harris:

Kindly extend to all students and members of the faculty of Brigham Young university our deep appreciation for the sustaining strength we have received through their help during this time of bereavement. We are glad that our son and brother, Earle Meham Poulson, participated in a civilization characterized by so much sympathy, friendliness, and love.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Wilford Poulson and Family.

Assembly Will Feature Freshmen

DANCE OPEN TO ALL

Freshmen colors will wave over Memorial hall today, symbolizing the rule of the youngest class for one day, at least, although the sophomores have been held in check fairly well all year.

The activities started with an assembly at 11:30, under the direction of Helen Harris, class vice-president. Rowena Christensen rendered two violin solos, Gwen Ashman gave a reading, the orchestra that will furnish the music at the dance tonight played, the White Keys presented a skit, and a group of former Provo high school students "skitted" again.

At 4:30 a wrestling and boxing carnival between the freshmen and the sophomores will be held. The frosh contingent is under the direction of Alton Merrill, and the sophs will be led by Merrill Croft.

A student body dance, sponsored by the freshmen class, will be held at 8:30 in the Ladies' gym. Special decorations have been arranged, the committee being headed by Isabelle Dillman.

The assembly committee is led by Helen Harris; programs, Ab Swenson; dance, Dale De Graff; and advertising, Jack Eastmond. Roy Hudson is editor of the paper, which is entirely a frosh product, and Keith Thomas is business manager.

"The Frosh class cordially invites the entire student body (including the sophs) to celebrate with us during the day and at the dance tonight," states Web Decker, freshman prexy.

Decker Extends Class Greetings

Brigham Young university, faculty, seniors, juniors, and sophomores, we're here! The class of '37 demands your recognition. We've proven worthy in parade, in informal brawl, in tug-of-war, in sandbag frolic, in push-ball contest, and in these parlor antics we have shown ourselves to be equal and superior to our distinguished friendly-enemies, the sophomores.

We're superior not only in brawn and muscle, but in a social way as well. Have you ever noticed the number of frosh girls escorted to a dance by a sophomore, a junior, or even a mighty senior? Or have you ever noticed the number of sophomore, junior, or seniors girls who gang around frosh boys in the halls when there are plenty of other men handy? Look around next time.

We have exceptional frosh talent in football, basketball, track, tennis, debating and dramatics. We're coming up, we're learning fast, we're going places, we've got what it takes and we know it.

B. Y. U. here we come!

GIVE THE TEAM A HAND

Last Saturday you saw a fighting bunch of Cougar Kittens show everybody, including the Utah Papooses, that although they lost the game they were not beaten. Those Frosh footballers of ours certainly are a fine credit to the freshman class. In all their games they have shown a true spirit of clean play and sportsmanship.

Too often the efforts of a freshman team go unheralded and un-noticed. They fight their battles in comparative obscurity. This year, however, they have won the admiration of townspeople and students alike by the wonderful showing they have made.

Next year the varsity men have got to go some if they want to keep their positions, for the Frosh have many wonderful players. Here's to the Frosh football team. Let's give them a hand!

B. Y. U. LOVES A PARADE?

Thirty Freshmen, count them yourself, together with about twenty other students composed the Brigham Young university representation in the Armistice Day parade last Saturday. This is approximately 3 per cent of the student body.

What a showing!

As long as it's a football game, or a rally, or something like that, you can support it moderately, but when it comes to participating in an affair of international importance, you fall down on the job. What is the matter with you? Couldn't you spare one short hour to march in a parade for a matter of fifteen blocks?

Did you notice the Farrer and Dixon junior high schools? I'll wager they had more than a ninety per cent participation. We're supposed to be college students with finer and cleaner perceptions of what the Armistice means. I said supposed.

Out of ten million killed in the World War, America lost fifty thousand of the flower of her manhood, with two million wounded and disabled, and A. S. B. Y. U. has fifty students out of fifteen hundred to honor them and what they died and suffered for.

FROSH ISSUE

Arrayed in traditional color of green, we present this issue of the Y News as part of the Frosh Day activities.

Many of those students who have contributed much of their time and talent have had little or no journalistic experience. Others who have done this kind of work before needed the journalistic cogs of their brain oiled up, because of the period of lying idle.

However, notwithstanding our inexperience and lack of practice, we present this issue to you with no alibis. We live and die by our efforts.

It is only through the wholehearted support of those students on the staff that we have been able to put out a Frosh issue, and I wish to thank them here, publicly for the wonderful way they have rallied to the banner and given without stint, of their time and efforts.

We trust that anything we have said in this issue relative to our friends the sophomores and other upper classmen will be taken in the spirit intended. We hold no grudges and are not trying to ridicule anyone or anything.

So, with this issue, and with the other equally important parts of the day's program, we celebrate this greatest day of all days, FRESHMAN DAY!

Poulson Addresses State Psychologists

Professor M. Wilford Poulson, head of the psychology department, spoke at the annual meeting of the Utah State Society for Mental Hygiene at the Hotel Utah, Salt Lake City, Wednesday evening.

He discussed the activities of the Utah County Society for Mental Hygiene, of which he is president, and told what it hopes to accomplish.

NEW CHORUS ORGANIZES

An Acappella chorus is to be organized next week by Doctors Florence Jepperson Madsen and Franklin Madsen, music instructors. The chorus will consist of 60 tested voices. All singers will be eligible for this chorus. The testing of voices will begin next week. Anyone interested in becoming a member of this organization see either of the above music instructors.

Meandering Moose

In looking over last year's frosh issue, all we can see is "Nick Udall." Not content with plastering his name all over the front page, he has to write an editorial in type four times the size of ordinary type and sign it "Nicholas Udall, president of Freshman class." Well, they say advertising pays. Is Mae! It Mae! (No, Mae Seaton, you ape.) Great shades of Woody Wilson.

The Armistice day parade was a total flop! The grand total of approximately fifty students descended to march. There were twice as many freshmen as sophomores, juniors, and seniors combined. Such patriotism!

Well, now that unit pledgings are over, you can act yourselves again, and quit soft-soaping everybody that you think might have a drag. (Don Alder hasn't quit yet.)

We hear the Tausigs are going to put out a paper with ads and everything edited by the renowned Bud Nuttall. We just can't wait to see what "Winchell" says about the Frosh issue. This is once that Bud got Winchelled on.

Mike Jones is around here betting every freshman available that the frosh issue won't come out. Well, here it is, Wise-guy, and we didn't need the C. C. C. to help us either.

If you want to see some body, and he isn't around school, you might try the U. B. It seems to be a sort of club house, especially during Monday and Wednesday assemblies.

Down at the Elizabeth apartments, you have to be able to whistle if you want to see a girl. If you want Mae Seaton, you must whistle "Tomorrow," if Mary Brown is desired, "Yankee Doodle" is the required ditty; Frances Seaton responds (I hope) to "Pink Elephants," and June Brown respond to anything. Be careful, boys, it's right across the road from the police station. Don't all whistle at once.

Somebody ask Louise Jenkins about the party they held in Las Vegas while on the music tour. And imagine their embarrassment when they found that Dr. Madsen had stayed across the road during the night.

Library Gets Grants From Clark, Dr. Sears

"Art and the Great War" by Gallatin, has been donated to the Heber J. Grant library by Dean Herald R. Clark.

The library has also received a number of new books from Dr. Herbert J. Sears of Salt Lake City.

A volume of a not yet completed encyclopedia has also been procured. This volume, "The Encyclopedia of the Social Sciences," has in it an extract from the thesis of Dr. Christen Jensen, entitled "Pardons." Listed in the bibliography at the head of a long list of references in his work "The Pardoning Power of the United States."

Journalism Students To Publish Magazine

Y journalism students will publish a magazine sometime in the winter quarter, it was learned from Harrison R. Merrill, head of the journalism department of the university.

The magazine will be successor to the Scratch, which has not been published for two years. Students will make all the contributions, and will comprise the editorial and business staffs. Poetry, humorous articles, and any other material adapted to a college magazine will be accepted.

Today Is Deadline For Grant Oration

"Inspired by the refining influences of Mormonism we will develop the gifts within us" is the subject selected for the Heber J. Grant oratorical contest. The speech must be from seven to ten minutes in length and must be handed in no later than today to Ken Peterson, Prof. T. Earl Pardee, or Prof. Alonzo Morley.

Scanning the Sheets With Nate

An unknown donor at Auburn university gave a freshman co-ed a copy of "What Every Young Woman Should Know." After reading the book she wrote to the publishers suggesting a revision of three chapters and the addition of four new chapters.

Every freshman entering Union college must pass a swimming test. (I wonder if they have a fountain?)

Sensing that paddles do not carry the sting as they should, freshman hazers at the Colorado School of Mines have substituted leather belts.

Four freshmen, like in sex, age, and name are Waco College's novel bid for publicity. They are Mona, Mary, Leota and Roberta Keys, 18, of Hollis, Okla. This quartette is said to be the first set of girl quadruplets ever to enter a college.

In Berlin, Germany, freshmen at the university are allowed six weeks in which to analyze and select their professors.

Freshman co-eds at the University of Colorado, who fail to obey Freshman rules, must apples at football games.

From the Mills college weekly comes this bit of news: A dean from the University of Nebraska thinks love, dumbness, and faculty intelligence are the reason for freshman flunks. (How about movies, dances, athletics, etc?)

Workers Drop Picks To Watch Frosh Game

Forty picks and shovels were laid aside as the Y kittens drove down the field toward the goal-line in the last period of the Y-Aggie Frosh tilt Saturday.

Forty Y students working on President Harris' new rock garden ran to the hillside as the cheering of the B. Y. fans increased to a roar.

The hillside furnished a wonderful view of the stadium except for one thing. There was a screen of trees in front of the football field. With each play in the game the students were obliged to scramble through the foliage. They unanimously declared they ought to write up a petition that their next job be that of clearing the trees.

Room D Has Forty-two Years Of Colorful, Romantic Past

Men travel far and wide to see the beauties of other nations, and often they are like the prince who spent his life in search of a precious diamond, only to return at the end of his journey and find it lying in his own back yard.

The next time you pass through Room D imagine yourself a traveler in the early 90's. Picture the library across the north end of the building, separated by a railing from the other half which was used as an assembly hall as College Hall is now used, from 1891 to 1899. Devotional exercises were held here every morning.

During the day it was used as a study hall and the old fashioned double seated desks fostered many a budding young romance. Mrs. Gillespie, whose position it was at that time to maintain order beyond the railing was particularly active between the hours of 4:00 and 6:00. Those were the "dating" hours.

Celebrities Visit Room D.

Many a famous personage has spoken from the rostrum in this hall. It was Madam Lydia Von Finkelstein in Mountford, who so highly commended Professor Lund, while he was making his reputation here as a choir leader. Madam Mountford was reared in the Holy Land and gave a series of lectures at the university portraying the traditions, clothing and customs of the people in her native land.

William Jennings Bryan, the year before his nomination for the presidency, spoke here on the value of being green. So impressive were his remarks that the class of 1897 adopted as their motto "Evergreen," and the class banner, an evergreen tree, was worked in silk.

Maeser Honored Here
The farewell party for Karl G. Maeser was a notable occasion in Room D, when he left the university to accept the position of superintendent of church schools.

In 1925 when the Heber J. Grant building was completed, the library was moved to Temple hill, and since then the north end of Room D has been converted into an extremely interesting and valuable display room.

In the center section stands a cast of the magatherium cuvieri, a gigantic South American ground sloth. The sloth is one of the few animals to carry-over long enough to be contemporary with ancient man. At Gyp Cave in Las Vegas remains of the sloth and some of the artifacts of man have been found together. At one time the Bonneville lake entirely covered Provo valley and geologists say prehistoric animals lived here.

Pictures portraying how these animals must have appeared in real life have been painted and hung upon the walls surrounding the display.

Costly Minerals Exhibited

A collection of common and rare minerals are exhibited. They formerly belonged to the Deseret museum in Salt Lake and cost the church many thousands of dollars. There is a famous crystal weighing 650 pounds, and others that have been secured by exchange through the late Dr. James E. Talmadge.

A collection of colored pottery, probably one of the most famous in America, was brought here by Mr. Van Buren, who headed an expedition to South America during President Cluff's administration at the Y.

Room D is steeped in an atmosphere of old traditions and modern research. Apply the motto of "See America First" to sight-seeing in school and imbibe the wealth of romance and historical interest in the Y museum.

"Ghost Train" Cast Begins Rehearsals

Rehearsals have begun for the senior play, "The Ghost Train," to be presented in College hall on one night only, December 8. As the money taken in on this play will go toward the senior project, the students rates will not prevail at the performance.

"Seniors are not," says Bill Martin, president of the class, "putting on the play to make a profit for the seniors. They are donating their services, because all profits made on the play goes for the senior project, and the senior project is for the betterment of our Alma Mater. Thus the student body, by supporting the senior play, are really supporting the school. It is the student body, not the seniors who gain from the senior project."

The senior project this year will probably be a contribution to the endowment fund. Prices for the play will be thirty cents general admission, reserved seats forty cents.

Utah Stake Meeting To Hear Mass Chorus

A mixed chorus, under the direction of Doctors Florence Jepperson Madsen and Franklin Madsen, will furnish the music for the morning and afternoon sessions of the Utah Stake conference to be held Sunday, November 19, at the Tabernacle.

This chorus which consists of about 200 members is made up of the choruses at Brigham Young university, the Passion Play chorus, and the Tabernacle choir.

An addition to the music furnished by the mixed chorus, selections will be sung by the Cougar quartet whose members are Eldon Richardson, Owen Bingham, Hillman Snell, and Faris Edgley. A mixed quartet consisting of Alene Peterson, Fredonia Strickler, Murray Roberts and Peter Jensen, with violin obligato played by Maurine Romney will also supply part of the program.

Accompanists for the program will be Mrs. Leona M. Van Wagener, Miss Roberta Wilde and Dr. Florence Jepperson Madsen.

Ellsworth To Speak To Y Camera Club

"The Acme Movie Camera" will be the subject of an illustrated talk to be given by Professor Ellsworth C. Dent at the regular meeting of the Y Camera club on Monday, November 20, at 4:30 p. m. in 260-E. Prof. Dent will explain and demonstrate the use of this camera.

Dr. Wayne Hales will conduct an open camera discussion and will give an explanation of the various types of cameras.

Students wishing to join the club should bring a written application requesting membership. The dues for the year are twenty-five cents.

but also for entertainment during the evening.

The following Viking pledges entertained the old members with a dinner and program Wednesday night at the Y Pharmacy: Jack Shaw, Kay Hammond, Walt Clark, Vergil Stice, Phil Empey, Jay Scofield, Alton Merrill, Waldo Le Sueur, Ken Brown, Sherman Wing, Bert Fulmer, Boyd Page, June Payne, Gordon Braun, and Max Andrews.

The Phi Delta Bi pledged the following girls at Dorothy Richmond's home November 10: Blanche Jones, Wilma Kotter, Laura Menzel, Genevieve Fugal, Irene Johnston. Lunch was served after the pledging.

They will hold initiations November 21 at the First Ward amusement hall and the banquet will be served at Keeley's.

The Nautilus social unit honored the following pledges and guests with a semi-formal dancing party Saturday night, November 11, at the Firmage hall in American Fork. Louise Zabriskie, Anita Smoot, Betty Burton, Anna Dee Coons, Fay Greer, Norma Crane, Gwen McGrew, Evelyn Mickelson, Vera Merrill were present. The patrons were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dixon.

The following active members of the Val Norn social unit were entertained by their goats at a formal dinner given at the home of Miss Theresa Hansen: Beth Paxman, Madelyn Harrison, Margaret Hansen, La Veda Westover, Gloria Friel, Lucile Skinner, Hazel Anderson, Beth Swenson, Faye Johnson, Virginia Sorenson, Cally Hansen, Mary Dahlquist, May Seaton, Lajune Brown, Arlene Harris, Nadine Taylor, Jean Clark, and Margaret Reese were in attendance.

The dining room was transformed into the Hall of Valhalla.

Y Chorus Returns From Concert Tour

Boulder City, Nevada was the destination of the mixed chorus which represented Brigham Young university in concerts given in the southern part of Utah and Nevada. The group consisted of thirty-six trained voices which were directed by Dr. Florence Jepperson Madsen and Dr. Franklin Madsen, music directors.

In addition to the mixed chorus, Lithe Coleman, professional reader; Tess Packard, accomplished dancer; and Maurine Romney who assisted with her violin, were also included in the concerts given.

Solos, quartets, duets, and small group numbers selected from the group as a whole also helped to make up the program.

Friday morning, November 10, the group left on their trip and returned early Tuesday morning, November 13.

While on the trip concerts were given in Parowan, St. George, and Cedar City, Utah; and Overtown, Boulder and Las Vegas, Nevada.

Roberta Wilde, Gloria Friel, Louise Jenkins and Dr. Florence Jepperson Madsen acted as accompanists for the concerts given.

Hillman Snell was chosen as business manager for the trip.

Piano Students Give Classical Recital

Piano students of Professor William F. Hanson presented a recital on Thursday evening in College hall.

The program consisted of ten selections, most of which were classical. The students who contributed to the evening's entertainment were: Maude Green, Wanda Johnson, Lois Greenwood, Ailsa Page, and Frank and LeRoy Van Cott.

The selections they rendered were from Brahms, Chopin, Debussy, Liszt, Teresa Caneno, Beethoven, Cyril Scott and Dohnanyi.

B. Y. U. Council Makes Trip to Weber, A. C.

The B. Y. U. student council left this morning on a two-day trip to the Weber college and to the Utah Agricultural college.

They have arranged to exchange assembly programs with Weber and are there today at eleven o'clock. After the program they will go on to Logan where they will attend the pep rally Friday night as special guests of the U. S. A. C. student council. They will also attend the football game Saturday as guests of the U. A. C.

The group will return home Saturday after the game.

Members of Les Ceciliennes social unit cooperated with the White Key in presenting a stunt in the pep program at the Paramount theatre Thursday night.

The following pledges were permitted to join charter members in the presentation: Carol Partridge, Lois Greenwood, Velma Christensen, Ailsa Page, Helen Jorgensen, Roberta Wilde, Sarah White, Ila Schow, Josephine White, Myrtle Allen and Reva Vickers.

The Chrysalis social unit pledged new members Wednesday evening at a dinner party held at Quinn's Cafe. The constitution was read by Maude Redd, secretary, and new members were formally welcomed into the unit by Helen Hammond, president. The ideals of the unit were set forth, and a tentative program for the year outlined. Committees were appointed to arrange a dancing party to be held Saturday, Nov. 25.

New members pledged were Bessie Payne, Erma Warnick, Edith Scrup, Glenna Veve Decker, and Francis Jennings.

Active and honorary members present were Helen Hammond, Maude Redd, Alene Hansen, Faun Jensen, Norma Perkins, Beth Roberts, Bessie Redd, Clyda Hammond, and Maxine Bailey.

Owing to inconvenience in pledging during the week pledge dates have been changed from the second and fourth Wednesdays in November to the first and third Fridays in the month. The ruling will be in effect beginning next year. The next pledge day of this year will be November 22, as previously announced.

At the weekly luncheon of the Beta Beta Beta, international honorary biological fraternity held last Tuesday, the following officers were elected: vice-president, Dulene P. Anderson; secretary-historian, Wi Pere Amaru. An initiation committee consisting of Bertrand F. Harrison, David Condon, and Merrill Hammond was chosen to take charge of initiations which will be held next week.

Merrill Hammond, president, who was elected last spring, presided at the meeting. Phil Christensen gave a reading, and Wi Pere Amaru entertained with several songs.

The pledges of the Val Hyric social unit were truly "goats" Wednesday night, when they pulled the wagon that carried the "sheep," or older members, down to Keeley's where the goats were treated to a banquet. Initiation ceremonies marked the program. Initiations, however, will not be complete until Monday night, when final pledges will be signed.

This year's goats are, B. Vern Bullock, Elden Ball, Duane Ballard, Kay Hart, LaVerne Unguicht, Harry Mitchell, Blain Allen, Delbert Bean, Marvell Hutchinson, Hatch Farnsworth, Ray Farhing, Norman Freestone, Archie Romney, Herbert Taylor, Menel Taylor, Mr. Dunkley and Mr. Geiselson.

The Progress International Friendship club, formed from the amalgamation of the Progress club, 1927, Berlin, and La Societe de Liaison, London, offers correspondence with foreign English speaking people in nearly twenty countries, according to Ott Done, local member of the club.

Club membership is open to everyone, regardless of race, age, creed, occupation or outlook. Correspondence may be carried on with students of famous European universities or people of various professions and occupations concerning politics, employment, trade, banking, customs, art, sport, literature, travel or the exchange of coins, books, postage, stamps, photographs, etc., may interest some.

The modern student needs this intimate glimpse of foreign conditions and policies to better solve present chaotic conditions. For further particulars and application blanks see Otto Done or Allen Sorenson or meet a representative in the Extension office Friday afternoon.

Cougars Out for Fifth Straight Win Over Aggies

BLUE COUGARS BURY C. C. 25-0; MERKLEY STARS

By BERT OAKLEY

Laying down a barrage of forward passes on Armistice Day, Brigham Young took the Colorado college sector at Colorado Springs with a 25-0 advantage.

In the second period, after Colorado had held the Cougars to even terms in the first stanza, Wilson quick-booted a pretty one from his own 25 to Colorado's 10 yard line. The Bengals tried to punt out of the hole, but Greasy Warner, playing heads-up football all the way, broke through, blocked the punt, and fell on it over the goal line for the first touchdown of the game.

The Cougars were held for the remainder of the second quarter, but in the third period the real fireworks started. LaComb and Merkleley took turns passing, with Hutchinson, Oaks, and LaComb gathering them in. In this manner Young scored three touchdowns in about five minutes, which shows the effectiveness of Coach Ott's pass offensive.

The fourth period was much the same as the first two, except that reserves bore the brunt of the play.

Cougars Out-Gain Tigers

Brigham Young gained a total of 278 yards, 133 of these coming from passes and 145 from scrimmage. Colorado accumulated 169 yards. The Y completed 10 out of 18 passes.

Floyd Merkleley was probably the outstanding man in the game, although modest Charley Oaks tried to hog the honors, as usual.

"Merk" thrilled the fans especially with his run-back of kicks, Warner and Tucker played a bang-up game, Tucker intercepting one Bengal pass.

TENNIS TOURNNEY SIMMERS DOWN

The tennis tournament is simmering down to its final stages and the main thing right now seems to be in getting the principal's interest diverted long enough from other activities to finish the play. Ballard, Stoddard, and Johnson have definitely reached the semi-finals, but it still remains for Stephens and Law to settle the controversy over who shall be the other contestant in the quarter finals. Some of these players have shown exceptional ability and without doubt will cause some of the present varsity men no little worry. Stoddard seems to be carrying his tennis ability from table tennis to the outdoor variety, having won two cups in table tennis play while in

Victory Against Logan Team Assures Success For 1933 Y Grid Squad

A fighting bunch of Cougars will come out of its huddle at 2 p. m. tomorrow on the Logan field to see whether the 1933 grid campaign is to be a success or not. To B. Y. U. fans a victory over Utah Agricultural college always brings a happy close to the football season; and especially a victory, at an A. C. homecoming.

Aggie scrimmages of this week points for a "stop Wilson" attack, and the fact that the Cougars have rung up four straight victories in as many years is going to make the A. C. eleven just twice as hard to humble.

B. Y. U. has never beaten the Farmers on a Logan field, three of the last four games being played at Ogden with the fourth in the Y stadium. Up until 1929 the Cougars had been able to score only a mere 9 points against the Aggie forward wall, while the Loganite backfield ran all over the B. Y. line to mass 140 digits. Since that time A. C. supporters have been unsuccessfully hunting a Cougar scalp.

A. C. Reports Injuries

Reports from the A. C. camp make the Farmers' situation look very gloomy indeed. It is reported that the brilliant reserve halfback "Cotton" Rasmussen is almost definitely out of the contest and that Clayton Wardell is on the sick list. These reports can count for nothing in determining the strength of the rivals for it seems that in past years the A. C. camp has always reported a large injured list only to have their stars made well right before the Y game.

Although the Y squad is rated higher in the conference standings, earlier performances with rivals of the two schools give the Farmers the big edge. U. A. C. romped all over Montana, 40-0 in the first game of the season, while the Bobcats were taken into camp by the Y eleven 25-0 two weeks later. Both the Cougars and A. C. have been beaten by the Rocky mountain conference champs. U. A. C. held them the closest with a 6-14 score; B. Y. U. losing a hard fought game in the last quarter, 6-21. In a snow storm the Cougars barely lost 6-0 to Denver. This was one touchdown better than the U. A. C. feat on a fast field. Western State was beaten by both teams. The Aggies were more impressive with their 28-0 win although a resting Y team beat them 13-0 in Colorado. That paper figuring counts nothing can be shown by the past four annual encounters when the Cougars have toppled the somewhat favored Farmers.

Richardson Back

B. Y. U.'s starting lineup will be the same as in the Colorado college game last Saturday with the exception of Vernon "Red" Richardson, one of the outstanding linemen in the conference last year. Richardson is a tower of strength on the Y line and will be up to his old tricks in his last game with the upstate Farmers.

Both Logan and Y fans will be watching the performance of Phantom Pete Wilson, B. Y. U. triple-threat star. Wilson has already received all-American recognition for earlier performance. Another interesting sidelight of the big annual affair will be the matching of wits of the brother coaches. Coach Ott came to the Y in 1928 and since then has coached the Cougars to four wins in five starts against brother Dick's proteges. Naturally enough, Coach Dick will be watching for a comeback.

one hundred first year men are out for the annual hoop tournament. Getting a name to fit the teams seems to be Chick Hart's hardest task. Milk bottle labels, funny paper titles, and other family luxuries enter into the choosing. Monday the Cats whitened the Black Babies 21-14; Lions took the clubs away from the Alley Oops and beat them back 29-18; and the Kittens outscratched the Bobcats 22-6. Tuesday found Millard on the large end of a 39-17 score with Star Valley; while the Rangers took the measure of U. I. 53-18.

HOOP CAPTAIN REVEALS PAST IN INTERVIEW

By NATHAN DAVIS

Two days after Santa Claus had left the Whitman residence in Lehi, Utah in 1910, a tiny stranger appeared. This welcome visitor was named Jay and grew to be the captain of this year's Y varsity basketball team.

Readin', 'ritin', and 'rithmetic seemed to be a waste of time to the youngster attending grade school in Lehi. Sports such as basketball and football tended to make life more worth-living to the future basketballer.

Upon completion of grade school activities, Jay entered the Lehi high school. Here a varied course along with a great deal of work in the gym caused the dark complexioned young man to enjoy life a trifle more. While at Lehi high school he distinguished himself in two major sports, basketball and football. Although nominated for several school offices he declined them in order to be able to spend more time on the basketball floor.

After leaving high school, Whitman, along with several other Utah athletes, was invited by members and alumni of certain national fraternities, to attend Denver university with the promise of means of supporting himself while attending school. On arriving at Denver the Utah contingent found that they had been declared ineligible to participate in athletics by the conference. This disappointment caused Jay to return home. He then entered the Y and although ineligible to participate with scholastic teams, he practiced daily in the gym. During the 1931-32 season he was branded the noisiest as well as one of the most agreeable fellows on the squad. His being chosen all-conference basketballer last year was a large factor in his election to the captaincy of this year's team.

By majoring in physical education, Jay hopes to attain a coaching position in some high school. At present he is "batching" with three other fellows and enjoys everything but his turn to wash the dishes. When asked to make a statement Jay replied, "Ott says that the present squad is one of the best he has ever seen, and I heartily agree with him."

KITTENS LOSE TO FUTURE FARMERS IN TITLE CLASH; WOODWARD Y SPARKPLUG

By ROY SUTTON

Fighting savagely, the Brigham Young frosh went down to defeat before the Aggie yearlings 12-7 in the head-line event of the local Armistice day program. Ideal weather prevailed and a record crowd turned out to view the state title clash in the Cougar stadium. The game was hotly contested throughout and the outcome remained in doubt until the final gun had sounded.

The two teams played on even terms during the first quarter, but early in the second period a beautiful 25-yard pass from Blanton to Jackson placed the oval in scoring position on the Y two-yard line. Two line smashes failed to bring the touchdown, but on the third play Jackson scored on a short run around right end. The Aggie coach hurriedly substituted Brown, an Aggie kicker of some reputation, but his attempted placement was wide.

Kittens Score

The only Kitten score came in the final period after Woodward, elusive Y quarterback who had been injured earlier in the day, had returned to the game. Giles took a 47-yard heave from Woodward and dashed over the goal line 23 yards away after straight arming the lone Aggie tackler who disputed his way. Durrant calmly booted the pigskin squarely between the up-rights to give the Y greenlings a one-point lead with the end of the game only six minutes away.

Realizing the necessity for prompt action the Aggie first year men took the ball from the kickoff and began a march back down the field. Two passes, one to Hansen and one to Boam, put the ball on the Y 2-yard line. The Y line stopped two thrusts on the line of scrimmage, but Boam crashed over on the third play for the counter. Blanton's try for the extra point was incomplete.

The forward wall of both teams was well matched in both weight and ability, fighting on even terms throughout the game. This was proven by the fact that both elevens had to resort to the aerial route to score. Co-captain Cook, along with Pearson and Asay, did good work for B. Y. in the line.

This Week's Schedule

Utah vs. Denver University at Denver.
Brigham Young University vs. Utah Aggies at Logan.
Colorado Teachers vs. Colorado U. at Boulder.
Colorado Mines vs. Colorado College at Colorado Mines.

Last Week's Results

Brigham Young 25, Colorado college 0
Utah U. 13, Colorado university 6.
Colorado Aggies 3, Utah Aggies 0.
University of Hawaii 7, Denver U. 6.

Pearson slipped through the line several times to smear Aggie plays before they were fairly well started. Bunker, Kowallis and Bullen showed up well for the invaders.

Aggie Backfield Shows Class

A slight superiority in the Aggie backfield proved to be the deciding factor of the game. The U. A. C. safety man got away several times for long returns of punts, keeping the play in Kitten territory for the greater part of the game. Blanton, clever Aggie passer proved his ability in the kicking department also, placing the B. Y. in a tight place several times by his accurate punting. Ryan, Jackson and Peterson were the other members of the backfield doing commendable work. Besides carrying the necessary weight Peterson also possessed a great amount of speed, and got away for several nice gains through the Y line. In the B. Y. backfield Woodward and Durrant were outstanding in their performance. The single Kitten touchdown was brought about by Woodward's accurate passing. Durrant proved his ability as a tackler as well as a consistent ground gainer, charging across time after time in the course of the afternoon to nip Aggie plays in the bud.
